This is very helpful and will make sure we pass this along to the family.

David,

There are a number of efforts going on in the community designed to help ex-offenders find (and keep) jobs, such as:

Hope Works
Life Line to Success
The Memphis/Shelby County Office of Re-Entry
Workforce Investment Network (which has a contract with a national outfit called CEO to provide transitional work)

All of us feel the demand is greater than the supply and that we need more employers willing to consider ex-offenders for jobs.

On the morning of Friday, May 18, the Public Safety Institute, the Crime Commission and the TN Department of Correction will be co-sponsoring a symposium on Expanding Job Opportunities for Ex-Offenders. Our target audience will be potential employers in the Memphis area. You might want to note that on your calendar. (More details to come.)

Thanks very much. Any suggestions would be appreciated.
This is for the son of a Temple Israel congregant.
